TUAL

(By United Press)
Rochester, July 24.—Governor Theodore Christianson, speaking before the annual convention of the Minnesota State Bar Association here Thursday afternoon, warned delegates of an increasing tendency on the part of the federal government to usurp the power of the state.

This, the governor said, has been gradual, although almost imperceptibly but none the less actual.

Another condition which has a tendency to undermine self-government is the tendency to pass too many laws, he said.

Arthur Nelson, mayor of St. Paul, placed before the convention a report rapping communism in Minnesota, which was unanimously adopted.

A fight over State Senator S. R. Childs' resolution supporting the present common law marriage code, due to an apparent misunderstanding of the meaning of a section of the resolution which Childs explained was merely for the information of the lawyers.

The meeting was adjourned after election of officers for the ensuing year. Howard Abbot of Duluth was named president.

TEST AUTHORITY OF NEW MUNICIPAL COURT IN FARIBAULT

(By United Press)
Faribault, Minn., July 24.—Constitutionality of the laws establishing a new municipal court here enacted by the last legislature will be tested in the state supreme court on August 5th.

Moonan & Moonan, Waseca attorneys, secured a writ of prohibition from S. B. Wilson, chief justice of the state supreme court ordering Judge C. M. Stockton of the municipal court to show cause why Carmel Knudson should not be given a preliminary hearing before being tried on charge of selling liquor. Knudson is charged with selling a pint of liquor to William Horn.

Peter Horn, special liquor investigator, swore to the information on which Knudson was arrested. Attorneys for the defendant contend Horn had no authority to swear to an information and that document is properly a complaint upon which Knudson is entitled to preliminary hearing before trial.

BE EXAMINED AS TO

Chicago, July 24.—Facing the gallows by a matter of hours for the second time in eight days, Russell Scott, former millionaire, today conferred with his attorneys on a new defense—that of insanity.

At 2:07 A. M. today, after a night of terror for Scott who had given up all hope for life, Judge Joseph David of the superior court granted an indefinite stay of execution on the plea that Scott had become insane since sentence of death was imposed.

Attorney William Scott Stewart, who helped save William D. Shepherd from the charge that he murdered Billy McClintock, the millionaire orphan, came into the case about midnight and after a frantic hunt for a judge, filed a petition for stay of execution pending examination of Scott's sanity.

The action came to Scott unexpectedly. He had abandoned all hope and turned what he regarded as his final message to the world. It was 11 P. An application requesting permission to discontinue the short line was filed with the railroad and warehouse commission recently by the railroad company. (By United Press)
St. Paul, July 24.—Minnesota and North Dakota engineers are today completing plans for the construction of a $350,000 bridge between Moorhead, Minnesota, and Fargo, North Dakota. Preliminary estimates will be asked after the completion of the plans.

Final details for the construction work and the financing of the project were worked out today when the state highway officials met jointly with North Dakota officials here.

The bridge, running from Center Avenue in Moorhead to Northern Pacific Avenue in Fargo, will be jointly financed by the State of North Dakota, Fargo, Clay county, Moorhead and the State of Minnesota.

The Minnesota quota, half of the expense of the bridge, will be lessened by $35,000 defrayed by Moorhead and Clay county. According to customary plans the bridge was to be constructed 28 feet wide, but petitions by Moorhead and Fargo asking for a 36 foot bridge, resulted in the plan changes.

The $70,000 additional expense incurred by the change is to be defrayed by Moorhead and North Dakota, according to Commissioner Charles M. Babcock of the state highway department.

TESTING POISON TO KILL GOPHERS

(By United Press)
St. Paul, July 24.—Methods of testing calcium cyanide as poison for pocket gophers, are not proving satisfactory. This report was made today by F. L. Washburn and C. E. Mickel, entomologists of the Minnesota Agricultural experiment station who have recently completed a survey of conditions.

Because of success in routing prairie dogs in Kansas with the calcium cyanide composition, it was thought pocket gophers could be routed in Minnesota by the same methods. The composition of dust which decomposes when coming in contact with moist air or earth gives off a highly poisonous gas.

The powder was sprinkled along the runways leading to the gopher holes but the small animal plugged the hole between himself and the charge before the fumes were given off.

Because of this poisonous vegetables thrown in the infested area is recommended for eliminating the pest, the report states.

In St. Paul the campaign has not been started except among the posts. St. Paul's quota is $40,000, $10,000 of which is to be raised from among American Legion members in the post and the rest by a public subscription campaign.

(By United Press)
Omaha, Neb., July 24.—Northwestern states have been granted places of advantage in the giant American Legion parade at the annual convention here next fall.

REORGANIZATION OF PROHIBITION FEDERAL FORCES

ACCUSATION MADE BY REP. J. P.
HILL, LEADER OF WET
BLOC

HILL EXCORIATES VOLSTEAD ACT
AS BREEDER OF COR-RUPTION

(By United Press)
Ocean City, Maryland, July 24.—

Reorganization of the federal prohibition forces was conceived to save this country from a national scandal which had been divulged by a secret investigation, Representative J. P. Hill, Maryland republican and leader of the wet bloc in congress, charged here today. Hill made the accusation in an interview with the United Press upon the recent announcement of Prohibition Commissioner Haynes that all dry agents would be dismissed from the service some time after August 1st in an effort to weed out those unacceptable to Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, new dry czar.

He linked the announcement with the assertion of Mabel Wildebrandt, Assistant Attorney-General, made last week that deputy sheriffs were acting against the law.

"In proceeding to clean house in this fashion" Hill declared, "a roundabout course is being pursued so that the dirty linen will not have to be washed in public. It is being done this way to avoid a national scandal."

"Corruption among prohibition agents has largely increased to such a degree that apparently it is necessary to dismiss the whole prohibition personnel and start over again."

"Enforcement of the Volstead Act under Haynes' administration and the chief propaganda methods of Haynes and the anti-saloon league are about to be dropped."

Hill declared the "Volstead Act" as the greatest breeder of corruption in the entire history of the federal government.

PROHIBITION BOARD OF STRATEGY MEETS

Washington, July 24.—The prohibition board of strategy went into session today with Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, dry czar, to perfect plans for the reorganization of the dry force.

Senator Schall of Minnesota called on Andrews shortly after the meeting began, but did not disclose the subject of discussion.

DECENTRALIZATION PLANS NOT COMPLETE

Washington, July 24.—Hope of putting the prohibition reorganization plan into effect August 1st as scheduled has been abandoned. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews announced today after a meeting of the board of prohibition strategy.

The present system with state directors in charge will continue until all details of the decentralization have been completed and are ready to be inaugurated, Andrews said.

SEEK COURT ACTION TO RESTRAIN STATE SELLING GAS

(By United Press)

St. Paul, July 24.—Federal court action to restrain the state of South Dakota from engaging in the sale of gasoline will be asked by the White Eagle Oil company. W. H. Oppenheimer, attorney, announced last night he is prepared to start action testing the constitutionality of the law which permits the state to engage in the gas sale.

HALF OF LEGION FUND IS RAISED

MINNESOTA POSTS SUBSCRIBE
$125,000—TWIN CITIES'
CAMPAIGN SLOW

St. Paul, July 24.—Half of Minnesota's $250,000 quota of the $5,000,000 American Legion endowment fund has been raised.

The campaign is furthest advanced outside of the Twin Cities, among the outlying posts of the state. Today 174 posts reported that their communities had raised the quota set for them. A total of $110,000 has been subscribed outside of the Twin Cities.

In St. Paul the campaign has not been started except among the posts. St. Paul's quota is $40,000, $10,000 of which is to be raised from among American Legion members in the post and the rest by a public subscription campaign.

In Minneapolis and Duluth the drives are in full swing. Minneapolis has raised $18,000 of its $60,000 quota and Duluth is nearing the half way mark in its funds. Its quota is $18,000.

The endowment fund campaign is being conducted throughout the United States to raise money to care for orphans of soldiers killed during the World war and for disabled war veterans.

GIANT AMERICAN LEGION PARADE

(By United Press)

Omaha, Neb., July 24.—Northwestern states have been granted places of advantage in the giant American Legion parade at the annual convention here next fall.

The announcement of positions allotted to the different states, by the executive committee of the organization, is based on the percentage of increase in membership over previous years.

Wisconsin leads the northwest delegation, being placed seventh in the line of march, followed by Minnesota in the Tenth position.

South Dakota legion members will be 16th in line with the North Dakota delegation following in the 27th position.

Florida legionnaires will head the parade and in addition to be given choice of seats in the great auditorium where the business sessions are to be held, will be allowed first selection of hotel accommodations.

British Isles legionnaires, headed by William Mangum, Mayfair London, England, will be in the runner-up position, with prospects that every individual country in the British Empire will be represented.

Other foreign countries in honor places are Mexico, third; Brazil, ninth; Cuba, twelfth; and Argentine, 40th.

MAY FIX RATES FOR CERTAIN LOCALITY

(By United Press)

St. Paul, July 24.—The state railroad and warehouse commission has the right to fix rates for a particular locality without making a state-wide adjustment.

This was decided today by the state supreme court in affirming the St. Louis county court's decision upholding a rate increase granted the Northwestern Bell Telephone company in Duluth in July, 1922.

REORGANIZATION OF PROHIBITION FEDERAL FORCES

ACCUSATION MADE BY REP. J. P.
HILL, LEADER OF WET
BLOC

AS BREEDER OF COR-
RUPTION

(By United Press)

Ocean City, Maryland, July 24.—Reorganization of the federal prohibition forces was conceived to save this country from a national scandal which had been divulged by a secret investigation. Representative J. P. Hill, Maryland republican and leader of the wet bloc in congress, charged here today. Hill made the accusation in an interview with the United Press upon the recent announcement of Prohibition Commissioner Haynes that all dry agents would be dismissed from the service some time after August 1st in an effort to weed out those unacceptable to Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, new dry czar.

He linked the announcement with the assertion of Mabel Wildebrandt, Assistant Attorney-General, made last week that deputy sheriffs were acting against the law.

"In proceeding to clean house in this fashion" Hill declared, "a roundabout course is being pursued so that the dirty linen will not have to be washed in public. It is being done this way to avoid a national scandal."

"Corruption among prohibition agents has largely increased to such a degree that apparently it is necessary to dismiss the whole prohibition personnel and start over again."

"Enforcement of the Volstead Act under Haynes' administration and the chief propaganda methods of Haynes and the anti-saloon league are about to be dropped."

Hill declared the "Volstead Act" as the greatest breeder of corruption in the entire history of the federal government.

PROHIBITION BOARD OF STRATEGY MEETS

Washington, July 24.—The prohibition board of strategy went into session today with Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, dry czar, to perfect plans for the reorganization of the dry force.

Discussion of directors for the newly created 22 enforcement districts was expected to consume a major portion of the meeting.

Senator Schall of Minnesota called on Andrews shortly after the meeting began, but did not disclose the subject of discussion.

DECENTRALIZATION PLANS NOT COMPLETE

Washington, July 24.—Hope of putting the prohibition reorganization plan into effect August 1st as scheduled has been abandoned. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews announced today after a meeting of the board of prohibition strategy.

The present system with state directors in charge will continue until all details of the decentralization have been completed and are ready to be inaugurated, Andrews said.

COMMUNITY BEE WAS SUCCESSFUL

Pequot People Replaced Buildings and Repaired County Fair Grounds

WIPE OUT STORM DAMAGE

Better Road From Highway to the Grounds Also Laid Out

Pequot residents planned and carried out a community bee on Wednesday in which they replaced buildings and made repairs to damage done the county fair grounds by a wind storm earlier in the season.

The old grandstand had been entirely demolished, and it was necessary to construct a new one. This was done on Wednesday, a much larger grandstand being erected and placed on a more favorable site nearer to the baseball diamond.

The agricultural building, the largest building on the grounds, had been badly twisted by the storm, and this building was straightened around and otherwise repaired so that it is in excellent condition for the coming county fair. The office building was also restored, having been wrecked by the wind.

A better road from the highway into the grounds was laid out and graded on Wednesday, and a number of other important improvements and repairs made.

The ladies of the city served a lunch to the many workers at noon. A program had been planned for the afternoon, to include addresses on banking by R. G. Harte, Pequot banker, on agriculture by County Agent E. G. Roth, and by Attorney Basil T. Heath, of Brainerd, formerly of Pequot. The work of placing the grounds in shape, however, took much more time than had originally been planned, and it was necessary to forego the pleasure of this program.

The Crow Wing county fair is to be held this year on August 31st, September 1st and 2nd, and the directors are planning on the biggest thing of its kind that has ever been held in the county.

TRUNK HIGHWAY BETTERMENTS IN STATE

(By United Press)

St. Paul, July 24.—Minnesota trunk highway betterments to cost approximately $500,000 in addition to those of routine maintenance and improvements contracted on competitive bids this year, have been authorized.

Authorization of these added improvements was announced today by Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner.

Estimated outlays for the 130 special projects range to $48,000 according to the announcement.

"All of these improvements are being handled better or with greater economy by this plan than by contracting on bids," Commissioner Babcock announced. "In some instances state owned equipment is being used by regular department crews and in others local labor and teams are being employed."

"Work is arranged so as not to compete with farmers for labor during the busy season and also to use farm teams during the slack period. The plan leaves the largest part of the money invested in the locality of the improvement."

FINE BANQUET IS SERVED

W. C. Cobb Acts as Toastmaster, In-

Musical Program

Brainerd Rotary club enjoyed its annual picnic at Breezy Point Lodge Thursday. All the varied recreational features of the Lodge assisted to form entertainment for the Rotarians and Rotary Anns. There was golf, tennis, putting, bathing, bowling etc., and in the evening at 7 o'clock, a banquet, served in the style which is making Breezy Point famous.

The committee on arrangements was headed by Past President Dr. E. A. Beise and all his associates assisted him to make the day one of great pleasure. Noise makers galore, odd caps and decorations served to give a carnival air to the banquet table.

W. C. Cobb presided with his usual aplomb and injected many a witty remark. Community songs were sung, directed by the Rotary song leader, Alfred Dillan.

Miss Lois Chadbourne, accompanied by Miss Effie Rexler, sang "Smilin' Thru," "Twilight," and as an encore gave "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

Miss Alice Regina Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Johnson, played two piano solos, "May Night," by Palmgren and "Pan Dances" by Elizabeth Boutells, and gave an encore "Sequidilla" by Albeniz.

Walter F. Wieland delivered the address of welcome to the ladies. Mrs. C. W. Hoffman gave the response.

Miss Alice Johnstone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. M. Johnstone played two violin solos, "La Gitana" by Fritz Kreisler, and "Capriccioso" by Elgar, with the piano accompaniment by her mother.

John Holvick gave a humorous reading, E. O. Webb responded to some poetry evolved by the toastmaster. Dr. Karl H. Hoorn, poet laureate of the Rotarians gave a short response. Dr. R. A. Beise thanked all who took part in the program, all who had assisted to make it a success and voiced his appreciation also of the courtesies extended by Captain and Mrs. W. H. Fawcett.

Dinner dancing was enjoyed, also a formal dance at the pavilion. Breezy Point orchestra furnishing the music.

LIBRARY IN PARIS YIELDS TREASURE

Map That May Have Been Made by Columbus.

A scholar who died recently, Henry Vignaud, after 60 years of study of Columbus' life, according to an article in "L'Illustration," and translated for the Milwaukee Journal, came to the conclusion that Columbus never said anything authentic about himself.

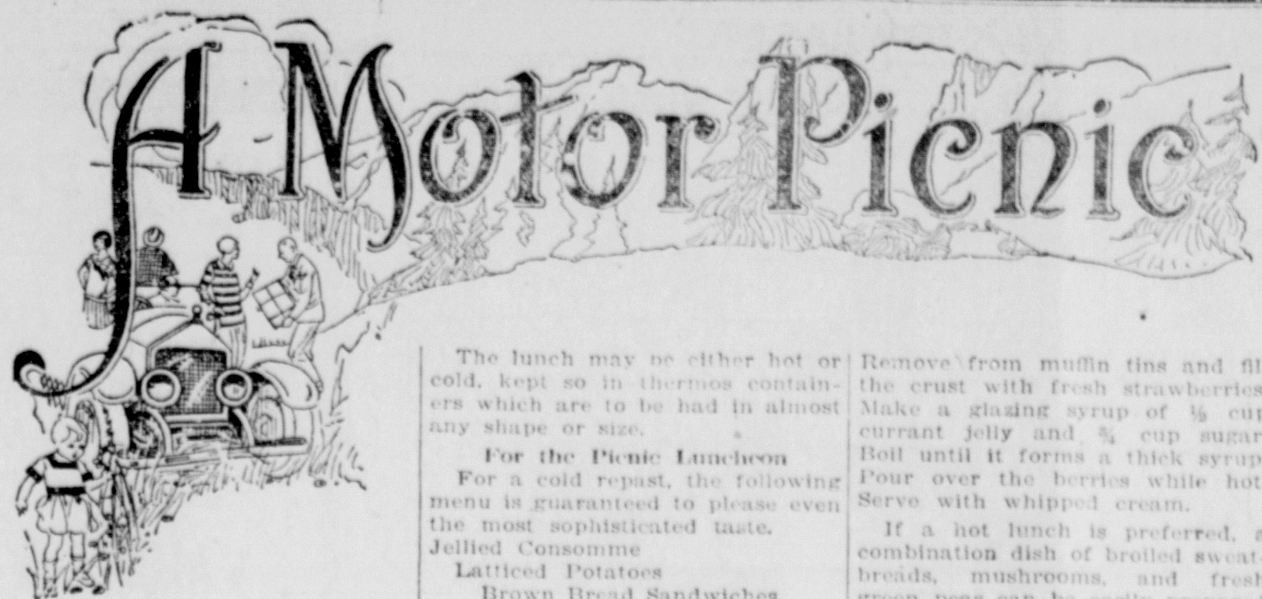

His great plan, which was born out of meditations about the shape of the earth, remains in the field of legends. To dissipate all doubts it was necessary to find a document of a date earlier than the discovery of America. Mr. Vignaud says that such a document did exist at the National library in Paris. Under the insignificant name of "A Portuguese Map of the Sixteenth Century," he found a real hidden treasure. There was no date, nor any name of the cartographer.

Two maps were combined on an old piece of parchment, a map of the world on a small scale and one of Africa and Europe on a large scale. Africa extended down to the Cape of Good Hope. The map of the world contained no trace of America and its islands. The cape had been discovered in 1488 and America in 1492. The document must have been produced some time between those two dates.

It was not a Portuguese document. The archipelago of Cape Verde was annotated on this map as follows: "These islands are called Capo Verde in Italian and Cape Verde in Latin. They were discovered by a man from Genoa called Antoine de Noli."

The author of the map was therefore an Italian and Genoa was well known to him. Another item is still more striking. The cartographer knew Iceland, "Frislanda, an island full of mountains, snow and ice, called Islande in the local language and Thile in Latin. On account of the cold, the people there eat nothing but frozen fish." This very same comment was made by Christopher Columbus in another document. It is more than probable that Columbus himself drew the maps, for all that he knew of the earth is contained on them.

"The world is a globe. The map must be drawn in one plane, but it must be visualized as a sphere." This sentence is written in a handwriting which is undoubtedly that of Christopher Columbus.

A Motor Picnic

The lunch may be either hot or cold, kept so in thermos containers which are to be had in almost any shape or size.

For the Picnic Luncheon
For a cold repast, the following menu is guaranteed to please even the most sophisticated taste.
Jellied Consomme
Latticed Potatoes
Brown Bread Sandwiches
Ripe Olives
Fresh Strawberry Tarts
Here are the recipes for two of these items.

Latticed Potatoes
Wash and pare potatoes. In order to obtain the latticed effect, the potatoes must be sliced on a vegetable slicer that is especially made for this purpose. Allow the prepared slices to stand in a bowl of cold water two hours. Drain and dry between towels. Fry in deep Crisco 350-375° F., or when a cube of bread browns in 60 seconds. Drain on paper and sprinkle with salt.

Fresh Strawberry Tarts
2 1/2 cups Flour
1/2 tsp. Baking Powder
1/2 cup Crisco 1/2 cup Sugar
2 Eggs 1/2 tsp. Salt
1 qt. Strawberries
Cut the Crisco into the sifted flour, salt, and baking powder. Add the sugar to the well beaten eggs and stir into the first mixture. Roll to 1/4 inch thickness with as little flour as possible. Cut with a 4 inch cookie cutter and shape in 2 1/2 inch muffin tins. Bake in a hot oven 400° F. 10 minutes.

Remove from muffin tins and fill the crust with fresh strawberries. Make a glazing syrup of 1/2 cup currant jelly and 1/4 cup sugar. Boil until it forms a thick syrup. Pour over the berries while hot. Serve with whipped cream.

If a hot lunch is preferred, a combination dish of broiled sweetbreads, mushrooms, and fresh green peas can be easily prepared and kept for several hours in a thermos container without losing any of its heat or flavor.

With this dish, serve Parker House rolls, crisp celery hearts and tiny whole tomatoes.

Coffee and cake will make the menu complete. Individual cakes are simpler to carry and more attractive to serve than a large one. A recipe for a delightful little cup cake to be baked in paper cases is given below.

Almond Cakes in Paper Cases
1/4 cup Crisco 1/2 cup Sugar
4 Egg Yolks 1/4 cup Milk
1/2 cup Flour
1 1/2 tsp. Baking Powder
Shredded Almonds
Powdered Sugar
Cream Crisco, add sugar gradually, then egg yolks well beaten, milk, and flour sifted with baking powder. Put in paper cases, sprinkle with shredded almonds and powdered sugar. Bake in a hot oven 375° F. 20 minutes.

Teachers' School Ship

The Mercy Jane Hayes scholarship and student loan fund, to be used for advanced training for the intermediate and senior high-school teachers of Detroit schools, has been recently established by Miss Hayes, who was once principal of the Hutchins Intermediate school. One thousand dollars a year is to be turned over to the trustees of Teachers' college, Columbia university, for defraying the expenses of a Detroit teacher at that institution. Advanced work in education must be pursued, and the teacher must return to Detroit and give the schools the benefit of her studies for at least three years after her year at Teachers' college.

Leacock Out of Luck

Sir James Barrie refers to the happiest memories of a lifetime as "walnuts." At the request of a New York columnist a number of noted authors contributed what they considered their own most priceless walnuts for publication. Stephen Leacock, the Canadian, arrived late. His laconic comment in answer to the request for one instance was, "Haven't read it yet." This naturally enough gave rise to the question whether Professor Leacock was a chronic optimist or merely a confirmed humorist.—Saskatoon Star.

An increase of more than threefold in the appropriation for state-aided libraries, most of which are in rural schools, has been made by the Virginia general assembly, according to announcement of the state department of education. THE AGENT EVIL

THE agent evil is assuming large proportions in Brainerd. Peddlers of all kinds are soliciting merchandise orders. They not only take your orders, if successful, at your back door or front door, but like a recent shoe salesman, hail you while you are on your job driving a wagon or truck. The "outside" agent is with us, and like a flock of locusts, is increasing in number.

Coupled with these merchandise agents, and by the way, we refer to the "outside" agent and not the legitimate home solicitor, we have fallen heir to a large number of mendicants who bother people while at work in offices.

Brainerd is not the only town submerged by itinerant agents. Anoka is also feeling the effect of the wave. For years, says the Anoka Herald, peddlers and the like have been increasing in numbers to such a degree as to become a nuisance to people. The door bell is being rung many times a day by peddlers vying all sorts of wares. Every woman in Anoka knows just how serious the thing has become.

Smooth tongued persons frequently induce people to buy things which they do not want and do not need. They induce them often to buy merchandise which can be had in better quality and less price right here of local merchants who pay taxes and maintain large stores of goods from which to make selection.

The Anoka Herald thinks it has solved the problem by printing and distributing free to householders a card which is posted and declares the occupant of the home is not interested in agents and peddlers. THE BRAINERD DISPATCH has modeled one on similar lines and any householder may have one free by getting one at THE DISPATCH office. Here is the legend the cards bear and they should be tacked up over the door bell or the back door:

"NOTICE to Agents and Peddlers. The occupants of this home buy only of BRAINERD MERCHANTS. Please do not waste our time and yours."

COUNTY BANKS FIGHT BANDITS

O. M. WANVIG of the Deerwood First National bank favors forming a rangers company to battle bank bandits when the occasion arises. Mr. Wavign is feeling out sentiment in the county and hopes the institution may soon be established.

LeSueur county has just organized under this county rangers' plan, as drafted and sponsored by the Minnesota Bankers' association as a protection against bank robbers.

It is of interest to follow LeSueur county's experiment. At a meeting of their county bankers' association, the sheriff and business men of the county named a protective committee of nine bankers from the various towns in county, with Frank Flowers, cashier of the First State bank at Cleveland, chairman, to perfect details.

This committee is now working on the plans and will meet with the sheriff to complete final organization and appoint rangers who will give LeSueur county an available armed posse ready for immediate action against bank bandits.

HARD luck seems to have hit the office of the Tribune Printing Co. of Willmar where some miscreant stole all the spacebands, 55 of them, from their two linotype machines. Sneak thieves appear to be getting busy in all parts of the country. We fail to see, however, how any one can make a fortune peddling spacebands.

WHEN that western doctor, searching for relatives to name in his will, got the facts before the people, he got a shower of claims presenting kinship and has also received a flood of marriage proposals. The marriage proposal, so far as future distribution of property is concerned, would take precedence over any will allotments.

THE St. Cloud Daily Journal-Press recently printed a complete list of membership and classifications, committees and officers of their Kiwanis club. THE BRAINERD DISPATCH will shortly do the same for the Rotary and Lions clubs and the information will be of great benefit to all club members concerned.

THE man who does things, never lacks a job, especially in civic affairs. The public especially loves a man who will do things for them. It loves him just as long as he does things, and thereafter is so fickle it often forgets all about his services.

Brotherhood Cannot

Be Made Compulsory

Brotherhood is like poets and slogans; it is born and not made.

There are two kinds of brotherhood—one that binds people who are by nature congenial and one that binds those who are comrades in arms, is the assertion of a writer in the Baltimore Sun. The first is a product of taste and the other a product of partisanship. In both cases we love our brother for the same reason that we enjoy victuals that agree with us.

All religions impose an obligation to love fellow believers. All civilized men make some effort to encourage a spirit of fraternity. Yet one is at liberty to doubt whether any of these efforts has materially altered human relationships.

True, any club or lodge or other organization may bring together kindred spirits and thus widen each man's acquaintance among his own kind and add to his happiness; but if one who finds the organization's members uncongenial is by some mischance enrolled among them, neither pledge of brotherhood nor sense of duty can make him like them more.

Blood brothers fight; the fact of their brotherhood cannot make them congenial. If these cannot love one another in conformity with the obligations imposed by their kinship what reason is there to believe that men of different breeds can learn to love one another merely by willing to do so?

The man who has a sincere desire to love his fellows may rid himself of the selfishness and narrowness and conceit that now conspire to give him a lone-wolf complex, and may in humility and patience reconcile himself to all mankind; but to the last he will continue to avoid persons who do not agree with him and to court those whose opinions dovetail with his.

The ego admits to brotherhood only those who conform. You do not in truth love a comrade in arms; you love yourself and your cause, and accept him as a brother solely because he is grinding your ax.

Love isn't a product of will or pledge; it happens.

Marvelous Sea Plants

One of the most thoroughly equipped sea-going expeditions ever organized is studying the mysterious Sargasso sea, originally discovered by Columbus. This remarkable sea is covered by a huge gathering of seaweeds, a floating mass of vegetable growth extending for nearly 200,000 square miles, around which the North Atlantic slowly revolves. Numerous air bladders, like small berries, keep the plants afloat. Seaweeds thrive chiefly in the 100-fathom limit—within 600 feet of the surface—but small and almost invisible forms are found everywhere in the ocean. Round British coasts a primitive variety is seen in the bright green and hair-like "crow-silks"; but no essential difference exists between the small weeds and the immense growths found in Pacific waters. Thicker than the trunk of a large tree, the gigantic stems of seaweed near Tierra del Fuego attain the astonishing length of 400 feet. Huge fronds resemble the spreading leaves of tropical palms. There are extensive sub-ocean forests of kelp, and floating islands of weeds swarming with live animals often measuring 8 feet from base to tip. Seaweeds multiply chiefly by means of spores, but near land the waves render unique assistance.

Trained Mouse

John Tierney, a night watchman in a factory in Geneva, N. Y., claims to have been successful in training a mouse to come when called, the call being the rattle of his dinner pail at midnight when he gets ready for his dinner. When the mouse made its first appearance he gave it some bits of food, next night he rattled the lid against the pail and in a short time the mouse appeared and was fed, and each night since he has found the mouse appearing shortly after the dinner rattle was sounded, so he claims a mouse may be trained to do a certain thing and repeat it over and over if one appeals to its appetite and is patient.

Rubbing It In

"I ain't going to take my children to the circus no more!" declared Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge.

"Then you think it is detrimental to their morals?" asked the presiding elder.

No; but tuther day at Mauck & Mauckensfuss' Consolidated Museum, Equestrianism and Hippolympiad in mighty union with Dockereff's Parisian Circus and Sanger's English Menagerie, when the old clown came out and begun to cut up his darn foolishness all of my smaller kids yelled, 'There's paw! There's paw!'"—Kansas City Star.

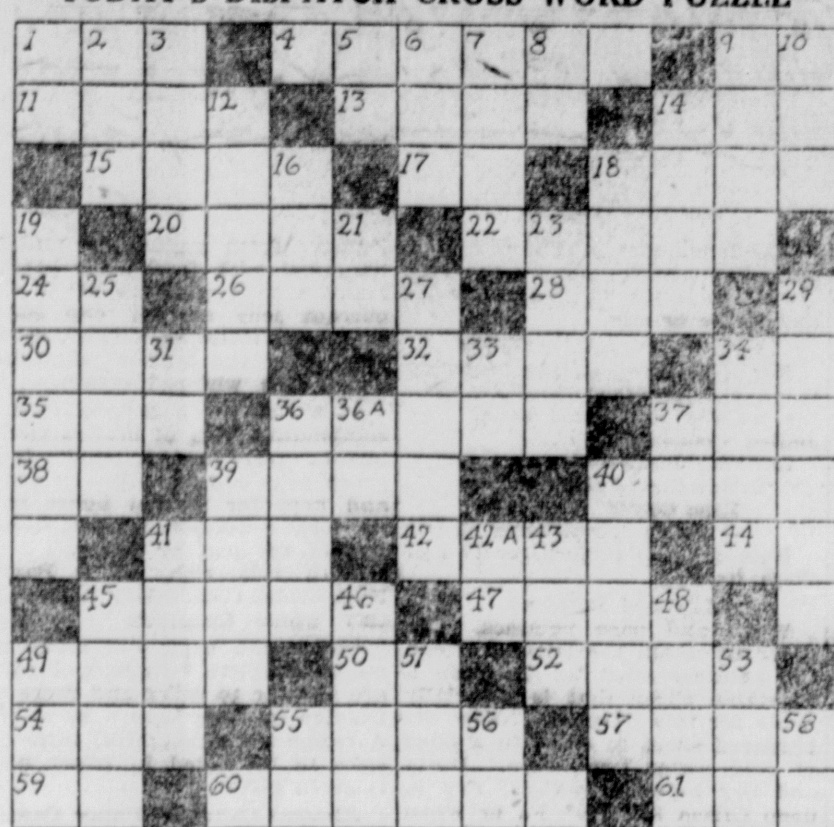

Desert Air Service

A project for the beginning in July, 1925, of a cross-desert air service from Ramleh, Palestine, to Basrah, Iraq, as a link in the London-to-Bombay route, is under discussion in London. The plan proposes to cover the 500 miles between the two cities in one day, with a brief halt in Baghdad. The cost for passenger transportation is estimated at £20 (roughly, $100).

If Sir Walter Raleigh placed his coat in the mud for Queen Elizabeth to step on today, would her majesty be pushed aside by some modern knight in a hurry to cross the street?

If the Holy Gail were a recent product, would it arouse no more comment than any other cup because the value of its metal would not finance a quest for it?

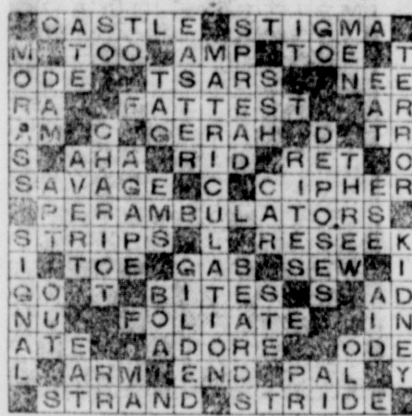

One observer is apprehensive over the passing of the age of chivalry. In this age of efficiency, she says, good manners are useless, and they have been abandoned almost altogether in the mad scramble for money.

"Push, push, push!" is the watchword today, whether it be on the street, in the subway or on the trolley car, says Elizabeth Robins Pennell in the Forum, and when a man does rise to offer his seat to a woman, a rare occurrence, she flops into it hurriedly and without thanks before he has a chance to change his mind.

"It would be folly to expect a man to go to the subway with any knight-errant notions, any tomfool courtousness for the other man less strong," she says. "He goes to get his train. If to get it he must knock aside everybody on the stairs to the station, drive a way through the crowd on the platform, fight like a tiger for standing room in the car—what difference, so long as he gets there."

"You don't thank him," one woman in a French caricature reproaches another, just given a seat by a Parisian who has not outlived his manners. "No, indeed," is the answer, "when a woman is too polite she seems to show a lack of breeding."

"If not to say 'Thank you' is a sign of good breeding, we can congratulate ourselves on being the best-bred of all nations. In the leisurely days of an unprogressive past, 'Thank you' was one of the first phrases taught to the young. But the little superfluous

THE AGENT EVIL

THE agent evil is assuming large proportions in Brainerd. Peddlers of all kinds are soliciting merchandise orders. They not only take your orders, if successful, at your back door or front door, but like a recent shoe salesman, hail you while you are on your job driving a wagon or truck. The "outside" agent is with us, and like a flock of locusts, is increasing in number.

Coupled with these merchandise agents, and by the way, we refer to the "outside" agent and not the legitimate home solicitor, we have fallen heir to a large number of mendicants who bother people while at work in offices.

Brainerd is not the only town submerged by itinerant agents. Anoka is also feeling the effect of the wave. For years, says the Anoka Herald, peddlers and the like have been increasing in numbers to such a degree as to become a nuisance to people. The door bell is being rung many times a day by peddlers vending all sorts of wares. Every woman in Anoka knows just how serious the thing has become.

Smooth tongued persons frequently induce people to buy things which they do not want and do not need. They induce them often to buy merchandise which can be had in better quality and less price right here of local merchants who pay taxes and maintain large stores of goods from which to make selection.

The Anoka Herald thinks it has solved the problem by printing and distributing free to householders a card which is posted and declares the occupant of the home is not interested in agents and peddlers. THE BRAINERD DISPATCH has modeled one on similar lines and any householder may have one free by getting one at THE DISPATCH office. Here is the legend the cards bear and they should be tacked up over the door bell or the back door:

"NOTICE to Agents and Peddlers. The occupants of this home buy only of BRAINERD MERCHANTS. Please do not waste our time and yours."

COUNTY BANKS FIGHT BANDITS

O. M. WANVIG of the Deerwood First National bank favors forming a rangers company to battle bank bandits when the occasion arises. Mr. Wavign is feeling out sentiment in the county and hopes the institution may soon be established.

LeSueur county has just organized under this county rangers' plan, as drafted and sponsored by the Minnesota Bankers' association as a protection against bank robbers.

It is of interest to follow LeSueur county's experiment. At a meeting of their county bankers' association, the sheriff and business men of the county named a protective committee of nine bankers from the various towns in county, with Frank Flowers, cashier of the First State bank at Cleveland, chairman, to perfect details.

This committee is now working on the plans and will meet with the sheriff to complete final organization and appoint rangers who will give LeSueur county an available armed posse ready for immediate action against bank bandits.

HARD luck seems to have hit the office of the Tribune Printing Co. of Willmar where some miscreant stole all the spacebands, 55 of them, from their two linotype machines. Sneak thieves appear to be getting busy in all parts of the country. We fail to see, however, how any one can make a fortune peddling spacebands.

WHEN that western doctor, searching for relatives to name in his will, got the facts before the people, he got a shower of claims presenting kinship and has also received a flood of marriage proposals. The marriage proposal, so far as future distribution of property is concerned, would take precedence over any will allotments.

THE St. Cloud Daily Journal-Press recently printed a complete list of membership and classifications, committees and officers of their Kiwanis club. THE BRAINERD DISPATCH will shortly do the same for the Rotary and Lions clubs and the information will be of great benefit to all club members concerned.

THE man who does things, never lacks a job, especially in civic affairs. The public especially loves a man who will do things for them. It loves him just as long as he does things, and thereafter is so fickle it often forgets all about his services.

AN authority at a beauty specialists' convention in Chicago asserts that women of the United States spend $6,000,000 a day to make themselves "synthetically" beautiful, whatever that is.

GOING to Winnipeg these days, is like going to Little Falls in the old days. Little Falls people have started a brewery in Winnipeg making 5.7 per cent beer.

PEOPLE now maintain that the Scott reprieve telegram is a fake. Nevertheless, it served a purpose and stayed the hanging of Scott.

MINNESOTA sweet cream butter just tapped a new market, Peru ordering a half million pounds.

THE Riffians are behaving like regular riffians in shaking up the French line of communications.

AMERICA still leads all countries in matter of service and speed of its passenger trains.

A WILD automobile driver and his car are more dangerous than anything on rails.

A STAPLES man claims he has sold 50 pounds of candy per day.

GREATER efficiency of the average citizen is the demand of the age.

Brotherhood Cannot

Be Made Compulsory

Brotherhood is like poets and slogans; it is born and not made. There are two kinds of brotherhood—one that binds people who are by nature congenial and one that binds those who are comrades in arms, is the assertion of a writer in the Baltimore Sun. The first is a product of taste and the other a product of partisanship. In both cases we love our brother for the same reason that we enjoy victuals that agree with us.

All religions impose an obligation to love fellow believers. All civilized men make some effort to encourage a spirit of fraternity. Yet one is at liberty to doubt whether any of these efforts has materially altered human relationships.

True, any club or lodge or other organization may bring together kindred spirits and thus widen each man's acquaintance among his own kind and add to his happiness; but if one who finds the organization's members uncongenial is by some mischance enrolled among them, neither pledge of brotherhood nor sense of duty can make him like them more.

Blood brothers fight; the fact of their brotherhood cannot make them congenial. If these cannot love one another in conformity with the obligations imposed by their kinship what reason is there to believe that men of different breeds can learn to love one another merely by willing to do so?

The man who has a sincere desire to love his fellows may rid himself of the selfishness and narrowness and conceit that now conspire to give him a lone-wolf complex, and may in humility and patience reconcile himself to all mankind; but to the last he will continue to avoid persons who do not agree with him and to court those whose opinions dovetail with his.

The ego admits to brotherhood only those who conform. You do not in truth love a comrade in arms; you love yourself and your cause, and accept him as a brother solely because he is grinding your ax.

Love isn't a product of will or pledge; it happens.

Marvelous Sea Plants

One of the most thoroughly equipped sea-going expeditions ever organized is studying the mysterious Sargasso sea, originally discovered by Columbus. This remarkable sea is covered by a huge gathering of seaweeds, a floating mass of vegetable growth extending for nearly 200,000 square miles, around which the North Atlantic slowly revolves. Numerous air bladders, like small berries, keep the plants afloat. Seaweeds thrive chiefly in the 100-fathom limit—within 600 feet of the surface—but small and almost invisible forms are found everywhere in the ocean. Round British coasts a primitive variety is seen in the bright green and hair-like "crow-silks"; but no essential difference exists between the small weeds and the immense growths found in Pacific waters. Thicker than the trunk of a large tree, the gigantic stems of seaweed near Tierra del Fuego attain the astonishing length of 400 feet. Huge fronds resemble the spreading leaves of tropical palms. There are extensive sub-ocean forests of kelp, and floating islands of weeds swarming with live animals often measuring 8 feet from base to tip. Seaweeds multiply chiefly by means of spores, but near land the waves render unique assistance.

Trained Mouse

John Tierney, a night watchman in a factory in Geneva, N. Y., claims to have been successful in training a mouse to come when called, the call being the rattle of his dinner pail at midnight when he gets ready for his dinner. When the mouse made its first appearance he gave it some bits of food, next night he rattled the lid against the pail and in a short time the mouse appeared and was fed, and each night since he has found the mouse appearing shortly after the dinner rattle was sounded, so he claims a mouse may be trained to do a certain thing and repeat it over and over if one appeals to its appetite and is patient.

Rubbing It In

"I hain't going to take my children to the circus no more!" declared Gap Joinson of Rumpus Ridge.

"Then you think it is detrimental to their morals?" asked the presiding elder.

"Nope; but tuther day at Mauck & Mauckenfuss' Consolidated Museum, Equestrianism and Hippolympiad in mighty union with Dockerell's Parisian Circus and Sanger's English Menagerie, when the old clown came out and begun to cut up his durn foolishness all of my smaller kids yelled, 'There's paw! There's paw!'"—Kansas City Star.

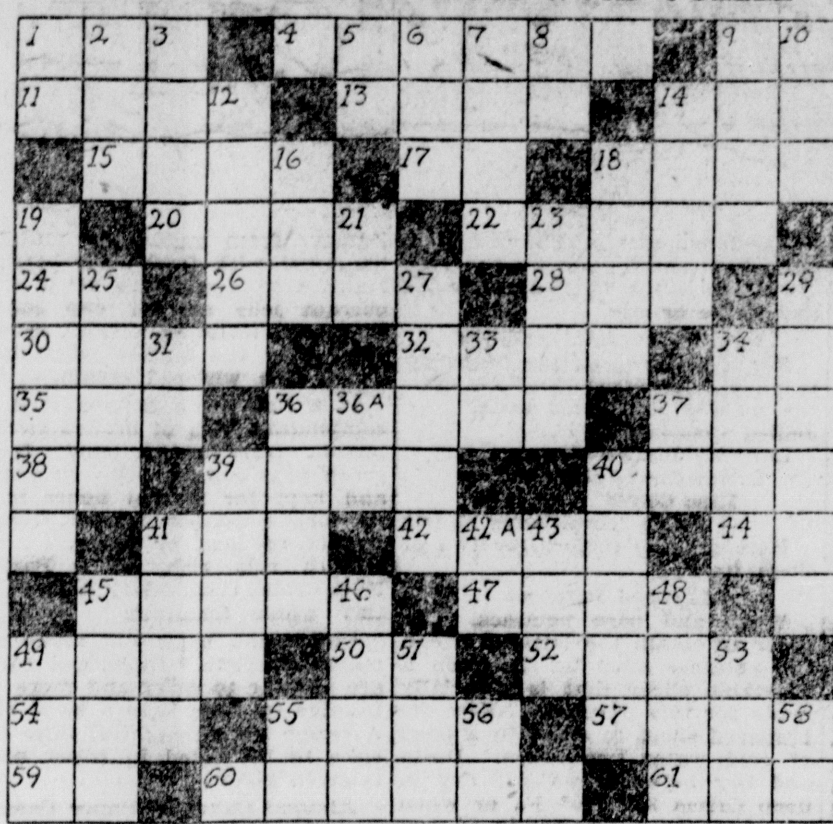

Desert Air Service

A project for the beginning in July, 1925, of a cross-desert air service from Ramleh, Palestine, to Basrah, Iraq, as a link in the London-to-Bombay route, is under discussion in London. The plan proposes to cover the 600 miles between the two cities in one day, with a brief halt in Baghdad. The cost for passenger transportation is estimated at $20 (roughly, $1000).

Dined in Manner of Centuries Long Past

As most of his readers know, Pierre Loti carried his love of the exotic into his own home, dividing his house, room by room, to represent various epochs of architecture, so that one could pass successively from Egyptian and Arab art through the Italian renaissance and eventually appreciate the severe graces of medieval France, says Living Age.

In these odd yet picturesque surroundings, Loti loved to receive his friends and delighted in devising fantastic entertainments. The Journal des Debats prints his invitation to a dinner which was to be served comme sous le roi Louis XI:

"You love times gone past and perhaps will allow yourself to be ever so little entertained by this faithful reproduction of the fifteenth century. There will be some thirty of us. Let us dine by the light of pine torches in a rough-hewn gothic hall powdered with the dust of centuries. We shall eat the dishes of the period—roast heron and roast hedgehog shall be brought by pages to the sound of the horn and the cornemuse. One of my minstrels will chant among other things a villanelle by Francois Coppee.

"No one may come except in the strict costume of the period. The guests are begged to dress as provincial noblemen, as chevaliers, or as bourgeois. We shall also receive pilgrims and minstrels. There will be a special table for beggars and ragmuffins if any present themselves.

"The hall will be rather dimly lighted and guests are requested to choose their costumes in dull colors. They must have an air suitable to people who had been sleeping for the last 400 years in the clothing that they wear. They are warned that the forks had not been invented in the fifteenth century and that they will have to get along without them."

Star Is Far Away

Determination that the object in the universe most remote from the earth among those visible through the highest-powered telescopes is the faint star cloud known to astronomers as NGC 6822, is one of the latest contributions of the Harvard college observatory to astronomical lore. Through studies made under the supervision of Prof. Harlow Shapley, director of the observatory, it has been estimated that this star cloud is about a million light years distant. In the language of the layman this means a distance of approximately sixteen quadrillion, seventy trillion, four hundred billion miles.

NGC 6822 was thought by the astronomers, Perrine, Duncan and Hobbs to be analogous to the Magellanic clouds. Studies made at the Harvard observatory, however, seem to indicate that it lies well outside the Milky Way system. It has been estimated that a dirigible making a nonstop flight and traveling night and day at a speed of 60 miles an hour would require 33,315,000,000 years to reach this distant spot.

College Cabin

Robert Bridges, the English poet laureate, said on his recent American visit:

"Your American liner, Leviathan, advertises its stowage as 'College Cabin.' The advertisement reads: 'Our new Third Class, College Cabin, arranged exclusively for ministers, students, professors, professionals, etc.'"

"College cabin," Mr. Bridges went on, "is all that our post-war intelligentsia, our students and professionals, can hope for any more. You notice that poets are left out. Poets are not even up to college cabin."

The laureate laughed fiercely and ended:

"Poets are born, not paid."

Disestablishing Churches

The bill disestablishing the Church of Ireland was passed by the British parliament in the summer of 1869, when Gladstone was prime minister. The Church of Scotland is the established church of that kingdom. The endowments of the church from all sources, including manors and glebes, amount to about £410,000 a year, and the voluntary contributions to about £765,000. Out of the funds the church pays its ministers and meets other charges. Under the Welsh church acts of 1914 and 1919 the church in Wales and Monmouthshire was disestablished as from March 31, 1920.—Family Herald.

May Return to Executions

There have been no executions in Berlin since 1921, and it is now being asserted that the number of brutal murders has increased in the German capital because of the disposition of the courts to impose sentences of life imprisonment instead of death. Berlin has no executioner and the discussions in the papers as to the advisability of restoring capital punishment have brought more than 100 applications from men who want to serve as hangman.

Match Industry Large

An export industry of importance in Latvia is the manufacture of matches. Six factories are in operation at the present time, with a daily output of 1,000,000 boxes of matches, 75 per cent of which is exported to England. Match splints are also produced, approximately 125,000,000 a day. Practically the entire output is exported, chiefly to England, the Netherlands, Belgium and Switzerland.

The Knitted Coat's The Thing!

AFTER looking over the smartest things for Fall, one can not help but realize that the knitted coat, by merit of its chic and practicality, has certainly come into its own.

Of course the knitted coat has never lacked in fascinating appeal, but we have been more or less prone to classify it as a fad rather than a garment of everyday utility. But now it has won a definite place among the stylish and practical wraps.

Smart for wear over light summer dresses, are the cool white balbriggans with downy brushed wool collars. Vying with these are the coats knitted of fine alpaca in the pastel tints.

Sketched above is a coat which I saw on the Avenue, and which attracted no little comment. Knitted of silk and wool in a delicate shade of rose, its collar, cuffs and pockets in a soft, mist gray, this coat could be worn gracefully with sports or dressy frocks.

A lovely thing—the Knitted Coat!

Hetty Hope Kane.

LARGEST AND MOST COMPREHENSIVE EXHIBITS AT FAIR

The 1925 Minnesota State Fair and Northwest Dairy Exposition, September 5 to 12, is getting ready to handle the largest and most comprehensive exhibit of Minnesota-grown livestock, farm crops, and other home industries, ever staged in the Northwest. No state fair has ever planned a feature so extensive. The tens of thousands of visitors from other states and countries will find it a mighty convincing argument for a home in Minnesota.

Minnesota exhibitors will have an opportunity to win more than $141,000 in cash prizes for educational exhibits, if their entries are good enough to turn the trick. This is the biggest sum offered by any state fair or exposition in the world this year, and gives the fair a commanding position in the front of all fairs. To be eligible to this prize list it is necessary for all entries to be sent in not later than the following dates:

Cattle, August 10.
Horses, breeding division, August 10.
Horses, Horse Show, August 17.
Swine, Sheep and Goats, August 17.
Wool, September 1.
Poultry, August 25.
Dairy Products, August 21.
Agriculture, August 31.
Horticulture, August 31.
Bee Culture, September 2.
Fine Arts, August 26.
Woman's Work, August 29.
School Exhibits, August 28.
The big premium list of 272 pages, giving detailed information about the prizes offered by the fair is just off the press, and ready for free mailing to anyone wanting it. Requests for it should be addressed to Secretary Thomas H. Canfield, Minnesota State Fair, Hamline, Minnesota.

Paying for the Home

"Up to two years ago my money all went to doctors and medicine for my stomach trouble. I was constantly filled with gas and no medicine helped me permanently until I tried a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy at that time with excellent results." Now I am using my money in paying for a home. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Johnson's Pharmacy and drug-dispensing everywhere.—Adv't.

ALREADY the background of many great sporting events and other spectacles, the new stadium on the lake front will be the setting for the Chicago Roundup and world's championship rodeo, which will be held in August under the auspices of the Association of Commerce. The city's business interests have made the roundup possible as a special attraction to thousands of buyers and tourists, and the great seating capacity of the stadium will provide for all who witness the epic drama of the frontier.

A vast arena, U-shaped and as level as a floor. Tier upon tier of seats rising with gentle slope. Wide passages at frequent intervals. Above, and back of all, colonnades of massive pillars. The whole a picture of graceful design which has become the international marvel of architects. Such is the new Grant Park stadium.

The stadium is regarded as the gem set in the city's ring of famous parks and boulevards. Located near the famous Field museum on the lake front, it forms the most imposing unit in the city beautiful system mapped out by the Chicago Plan Commission. In length, the stadium is 1,000 feet; in width, 550. The pre-cast concrete blocks with which it was constructed are tinted to simulate pink marble. The seating is so arranged that a splendid view of the field below is given to all of the 75,000 who can find comfortable accommodations.

The story of the roundup and rodeo is the story of the romance, chivalry and daring of the real west, the west that Roosevelt, Masterson and Remington loved. It has been called the passion play of America, and the high spirit which has inspired and ennobled these cowboy contests has increased full understanding of the red blood that pulses through the national heart.

Even to every feature of "atmosphere" which surrounds and makes glorious the contests at Cheyenne and Pendleton, the genuine spectacle of frontier and range is to be brought to the middle west when Chicago makes its debut on August 15 as the roundup and rodeo capital of the country. The same buckaroos, cowgirls and steer "bulldozers" who have written the records of these classics, will renew old rivalries. The challenge has gone from Calgary to Sonora, and even to Australia and the Argentine.

No code of knighthood was ever stricter than the traditions of sportsmanship that will govern in the Chicago rodeo. The buckaroo scorns pay for his efforts and his only compensation is the glory of a record broken and the opportunity to share in the money awards. With $30,000 set aside in cash prizes, Chicago business men have assured the keenest competition in the annals of the American roundup and rodeo.

The roundup has been underwritten by business interests through the Association of Commerce, but the program direction will be in charge of "Tex" Austin, one of the famous figures of the rodeo. Himself a veteran ranchman and skilled rider, "Tex" has conducted many successful cowboy contests. The greatest of these was held recently when Austin took a shipload of real Americans across the pond and gave a new thrill to more than a million people who witnessed his rodeo at Wembley, England.

Attraction. It is a translation from the novel of the same title by Harold Bell Wright, most popular author of the day, as proved by the statistics of his publishers, R. Appleton & Co., that his books have been read by more than 56,000,000 people through out the world.

Jack Pickford and Nazimova in "My Son"

Nazimova Takes 300 on Location

With 300 foreign looking extras, a star, several supporting players and a dozen truck loads of electrical equipment and cameras, Edwin Carewe went to Monterey, Calif., where he filmed outdoor scenes for his production of "My Son," for First National Pictures, which will be shown at the New Park tonight and Saturday.

The Portuguese fishing village erected near Cecil B. deMille's location for "The Ten Commandments" presented an unusual sight to those who sailed by in ships. Forty houses and twenty shacks lay at odd angles around lazy streets and a rambling pier. It is there that the high lights of "My Son" were photographed. The entire village was made so that the houses were suitable to be occupied by the members of the company. Nazimova, the star, occupied the mansion, while Jack Pickford, Hobart Bosworth, Ian Keith, Mary Akin, Charles Murray, Constance Bennett and Dot Farley each had a house to themselves.

Two giant tramp steamers were chartered by Mr. Carewe and anchored a few hundred yards from the shore. Besides furnishing realistic atmosphere, the steamers were used for part of the dramatic action of "My Son," which is an adaptation from the stage play of the same title.

Vaudeville at New Park Tonight and Saturday

The New Park will present a big dancing act with five people doing every thing from jazz to tango tonight and Saturday, with the "special" picture, "My Son," all for popular prices.

Rides, Fights and Romance in "The Hurricane Kid"

Hoot Gibson, Universal's premier Western star, stages a new brand of thrills and sensations in his latest picture, "The Hurricane Kid," now playing at the Lyceum theater. Gibson is seen in a desperate running fight on horseback, at breakneck speed, in a thrilling race and other exciting adventures, and one of the spectacular features is the capture and breaking to the saddle of a wild horse. Dangerous trails in the lower Sierras are the locale for much of the action.

Harold Bell Wright's "The Re-Creation of Brian Kent" to be Shown at Lyceum Sunday, Monday

That the river, from its origin in its mountainous stream to its turbulent emptying into the sea, is symbolic of human life, is the underlying theme of "The Re-Creation of Brian Kent," showing at the Lyceum Theatre on Sunday and Monday. The film is a Principal Pictures Master

Dined in Manner of Centuries Long Past

As most of his readers know, Pierre Loti carried his love of the exotic into his own home, dividing his house, room by room, to represent various epochs of architecture, so that one could pass successively from Egyptian and Arab art through the Italian renaissance and eventually appreciate the severe graces of medieval France, says Living Age.

In these odd yet picturesque surroundings, Loti loved to receive his friends and delighted in devising fantastic entertainments. The Journal des Debats prints his invitation to a dinner which was to be served comme sous le roi Louis XI:

"You love times gone past and perhaps will allow yourself to be ever so little entertained by this faithful reproduction of the fifteenth century. There will be some thirty of us. Let us dine by the light of pine torches in a rough-hewn gothic hall powdered with the dust of centuries. We shall eat the dishes of the period—roast heron and roast hedgehog shall be brought by pages to the sound of the horn and the cornemuse. One of my minstrels will chant among other things a villanelle by Francois Coppee.

"No one may come except in the strict costume of the period. The guests are begged to dress as provincial noblemen, as chevaliers, or as bourgeois. We shall also receive pilgrims and minstrels. There will be a special table for beggars and ragamuffins if any present themselves.

"The hall will be rather dimly lighted and guests are requested to choose their costumes in dull colors. They must have an air suitable to people who had been sleeping for the last 400 years in the clothing that they wear. They are warned that forks had not been invented in the fifteenth century and that they will have to get along without them."

Star Is Far Away

Determination that the object in the universe most remote from the earth among those visible through the highest-powered telescopes is the faint star cloud known to astronomers as NGC 6822, is one of the latest contributions of the Harvard college observatory to astronomical lore. Through studies made under the supervision of Prof. Harlow Shapley, director of the observatory, it has been estimated that this star cloud is about a million light years distant. In the language of the layman this means a distance of approximately sixteen quadrillion, seventy trillion, four hundred billion miles.

NGC 6822 was thought by the astronomers, Perrine, Duncan and Hobbs to be analogous to the Magellanic clouds. Studies made at the Harvard observatory, however, seem to indicate that it lies well outside the Milky Way system. It has been estimated that a dirigible making a nonstop flight and traveling night and day at a speed of 60 miles an hour would require 33,315,000,000 years to reach this distant spot.

College Cabin

Robert Bridges, the English poet laureate, said on his recent American visit:

"Your American liner, Leviathan, advertises its stateroom as 'College Cabin.' The advertisement reads:

"Our new Third Class, College Cabin, arranged exclusively for ministers, students, professors, professionals, etc."

"College cabin," Mr. Bridges went on, "is all that our post-war intelligentsia, our students and professionals, can hope for any more. You notice that poets are left out. Poets are not even up to college cabin."

The laureate laughed fiercely and ended:

"Poets are born, not paid."

Disestablishing Churches

The bill disestablishing the Church of Ireland was passed by the British parliament in the summer of 1869, when Gladstone was prime minister. The Church of Scotland is the established church of that kingdom. The endowments of the church from all sources, including manors and glebes, amount to about £410,000 a year, and the voluntary contributions to about £765,000. Out of the funds the church pays its ministers and meets other charges. Under the Welsh church acts of 1914 and 1919 the church in Wales and Monmouthshire was disestablished as from March 31, 1920.—Family Herald.

May Return to Executions

There have been no executions in Berlin since 1921, and it is now being asserted that the number of brutal murders has increased in the German capital because of the disposition of the courts to impose sentences of life imprisonment instead of death. Berlin has no executioner and the discussions in the papers as to the advisability of restoring capital punishment have brought more than 100 applications from men who want to serve as hangman.

Match Industry Large

An export industry of importance in Latvia is the manufacture of matches. Six factories are in operation at the present time, with a daily output of 1,000,000 boxes of matches, 75 per cent of which is exported to England. Match splints are also produced, approximately 125,000,000 a day. Practically the entire output is exported, chiefly to England, the Netherlands, Belgium and Switzerland.

The Knitted Coat's The Thing!

AFTER looking over the smartest things for Fall, one can't help but realize that the knitted coat, by merit of its chic and practicality, has certainly come into its own.

Of course the knitted coat has never lacked in fascinating appeal, but we have been more or less prone to classify it as a fad rather than a garment of everyday utility. But now it has won a definite place among the stylish and practical wraps.

Smart for wear over light summer dresses, are the cool white balbriggans with downy brushed wool collars. Vying with these are the coats knitted of fine alpaca in the pastel tints.

Sketched above is a coat which I saw on the Avenue, and which attracted no little comment. Knitted of silk and wool in a delicate shade of rose, its collar, cuffs and pockets in a soft, mist gray, this coat could be worn gracefully with sports or dressy frocks.

A lovely thing—the Knitted Coat!

Happy Hope Kane.

LARGEST AND MOST COMPREHENSIVE EXHIBITS AT FAIR

The 1925 Minnesota State Fair and Northwest Dairy Exposition, September 5 to 12, is getting ready to handle the largest and most comprehensive exhibit of Minnesota-grown livestock, farm crops, and other home industries, ever staged in the Northwest. No state fair has ever planned a feature so extensive. The tens of thousands of visitors from other states and countries will find it a mighty convincing argument for a home in Minnesota.

Minnesota exhibitors will have an opportunity to win more than $141,000 in cash prizes for educational exhibits, if their entries are good enough to turn the trick. This is the biggest sum offered by any state fair or exposition in the world this year, and gives the fair a commanding position in the front of all fairs. To be eligible to this prize list it is necessary for all entries to be sent in not later than the following dates:

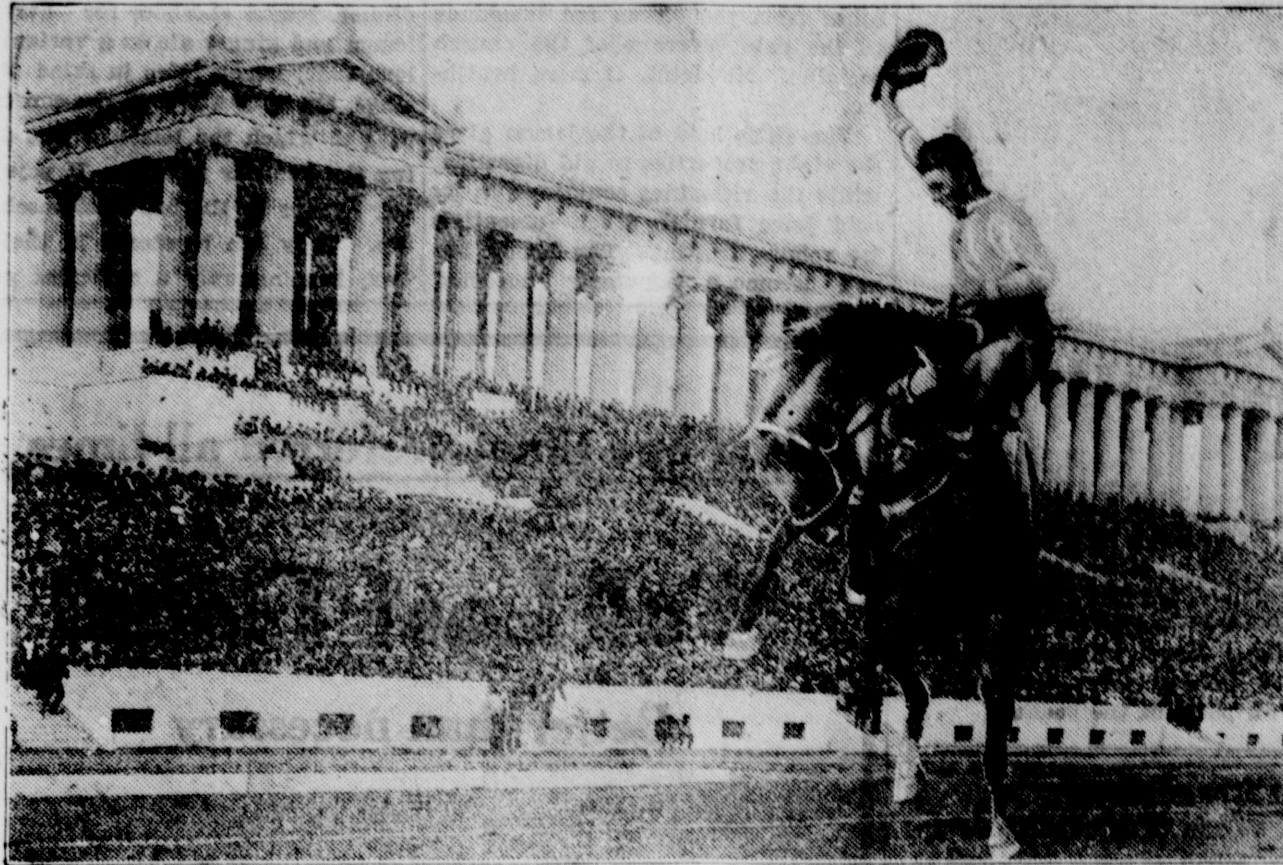

Cattle, August 10.
Horses, breeding division, August 10.
Horses, Horse Show, August 17.
Swine, Sheep and Goats, August 17.
Wool, September 1.
Poultry, August 25.
Dairy Products, August 21.
Agriculture, August 31.
Horticulture, August 31.
Bee Culture, September 2.
Fine Arts, August 26.
Woman's Work, August 29.
School Exhibits, August 28.

The big premium list of 272 pages, giving detailed information about the prizes offered by the fair is just off the press, and ready for free mailing to anyone wanting it. Requests for it should be addressed to Secretary Thomas H. Canfield, Minnesota State Fair, Hamline, Minnesota.

Paying for the Home

"Up to two years ago my money all went to doctors and medicine for my stomach trouble. I was constantly filled with gas and no medicine helped me permanently until I tried a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy at that time with excellent results." Now I am using my money in paying for a home. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Johnson's Pharmacy and druggists everywhere.—Advt.

DROWNED IN BAY AT DULUTH

CANOE CAPSIZED, ROY DAHL
DROWNED, COMPANION
SAVED

(By United Press)
Duluth, July 24.—Roy Dahl, 27, Duluth, was drowned in St. Louis Bay
Thursday night while canoeing with
Miss Florence Byrn who was saved.
Their canoe capsized and cries for help brought assistance from another canoe in which George Drewett, Duluth, and Miss Ella Buelow, St. Paul,
were paddling.
While Miss Buelow towed Miss Byrn
to shore, Drewett dove into the bay and recovered Dahl's body. Efforts to revive Dahl were futile.

Sounds of Trees.
"When I was a boy and hunted
squirrels in the woods where factories
now stand in the city, I used to study
the mystifying sounds made by the trees," said Hiram Hunter, deputy United States marshal assigned to the Judge Arthur J. Tuttle's court. "The queer sounds common to all woods I eventually learned were caused by the wind among the branches of trees, and did not emanate from the spirits of the departed Indians, as little boys were then told by their elders. One old oak tree that stood near where the northern city limits are now was known to us boys as the "spirit tree."
It gave forth a dirge-like sound and subsequent investigation revealed that the horizontal limb of a maple tree
was rubbed against the trunk when the wind stirred the branches."—De-

Advice on Shoes
Change your shoes and hose every day in warm weather, to keep shoes,
hose and feet in good condition, advises one shoe dealer. Light wool or silk and wool hose are best in summer, he says, for they absorb the moisture. The feet should be washed daily in lukewarm water,
preferably at night, and always dried
well before putting on hose again.
Lastly, he advises a shoe shine fresh
each morning, to preserve the shoes.
They are better shined in the morning, he says, when free of moisture or perspiration. Thus cared for, and permitted to dry slowly when wet, the shoes' lifetime will be extended 50 per cent, he states. The use of shoetrees is advised to assist in holding the shoes' natural shape.

Stingy Man
A young man in the city has a favorite colored barber who has cut his hair regularly for some time. Last Saturday when the young man was getting his usual hair cut, a friend who is noted for his closeness was also getting some work done in another chair. When his friend left,
the colored barber asked his customer
whether that man who had just left
was a particular friend of his?
"Oh, yes, I know him quite well,"
answered the young man.
"Well sah," said the barber, "that man, he so stingy that he wouldn't give a dime to see Moses running up
Mount Sinai backward."—Indianapolis

The Oldest Cent
A very old copper coin was dug up
by William N. Davis of Marblehead.
It was a copper cent bearing on one side in a circle "Commonwealth of

and an Indian holding a bow and a bundle of arrows. On the other side
is an eagle, with the value of the coin, "One Cent."

The Refreshing Lemon

This is the lemon season, the most ancient and popular cooling drink
being the "ice cold lemonade" shouted from one end of the land to the other from the circus red lemonade
to the pale beverage of the church
sociable. No drink is more healthful.

The citric acid of the lemon gives
the right properties to aid digestion,
while the vitamins contained in its
acid juice furnish other essentials for robust health. The lemon has now become a popularly accepted

concomitant of iced tea. The slice of lemon gives the iced tea a fine
flavor and makes it much more palatable to those who are not tea drinkers except in the hot days of summer
when they take it iced.

Lemon ices to accompany roasts at dinner, lemon sherbets for dessert,
lemon and ginger ale as a variant of lemonade, lemon juice in salad dressings, are only a few of the constant uses to which the lemon is put during the summer months. It pays to buy lemons by the box for household
use. They can be stored in the ice
box, keeping only a sufficient store

out for day-by-day use. This is an economy worth considering and a convenience, often saving a trip to the store.

Lemon juice for the removal of other fruit stains from the hands or
from fabrics is constantly in demand.
It is a good plan to extract a quart
of lemon juice at a time, straining
and bottling it to have it convenient for use in the kitchen. There isn't a day that the lemon isn't called for.
It is a simple task to measure out
the juice for a cold glass of lemonade
on a hot afternoon, much less trouble than stopping to squeeze the lemon. As the juice keeps well, it is a good plan to buy an extra supply

of the fruit for the purpose of making the juice for daily use.
The lemon crop has been very plentiful and the quality of lemons
on the market this year is unusually good.

DROWNED IN BAY AT DULUTH

CANOE CAPSIZED, ROY DAHL
DROWNED, COMPANION
SAVED

(By United Press)
Duluth, July 24.—Roy Dahl, 27, Duluth, was drowned in St. Louis Bay
Thursday night while canoeing with
Miss Florence Byrn who was saved.
Their canoe capsized and cries for
help brought assistance from another canoe in which George Brewett, Duluth, and Miss Ella Buelow, St. Paul,
were paddling.
While Miss Buelow towed Miss Byrn
to shore, Brewett dove into the bay
and recovered Dahl's body. Efforts
to revive Dahl were futile.

Sounds of Trees.

"When I was a boy and hunted
squirrels in the woods where factories
now stand in the city, I used to study
the mystifying sounds made by the
trees," said Hiram Hunter, deputy United States marshal assigned to Judge Arthur J. Tuttle's court. "The
queer sounds common to all woods I eventually learned were caused by the
wind among the branches of trees, and did not emanate from the spirits of the departed Indians, as little boys were then told by their elders. One
old oak tree that stood near where the
northern city limits are now was
known to us boys as the "spirit tree."
It gave forth a dirge-like sound and
subsequent investigation revealed that
the horizontal limb of a maple tree
was rubbed against the trunk when the wind stirred the branches."—De-

Advice on Shoes

Change your shoes and hose every day in warm weather, to keep shoes,
hose and feet in good condition, advises one shoe dealer. Light wool or silk and wool hose are best in summer, he says, for they absorb the moisture. The feet should be washed daily in lukewarm water,
preferably at night, and always dried
well before putting on hose again.
Lastly, he advises a shoe shine fresh
each morning, to preserve the shoes.
They are better shined in the morning, he says, when free of moisture
or perspiration. Thus cared for, and
permitted to dry slowly when wet, the
shoes' lifetime will be extended 50
per cent, he states. The use of shoetrees is advised to assist in holding
the shoes' natural shape.

Stingy Man

A young man in the city has a favorite colored barber who has cut
his hair regularly for some time. Last Saturday when the young man was
getting his usual hair cut, a friend
who is noted for his closeness was
also getting some work done in another chair. When his friend left,
the colored barber asked his customer
whether that man who had just left
was a particular friend of his?
"Oh, yes, I know him quite well,"
answered the young man.
"Well sah," said the barber, "that
man, he so stingy that he wouldn't
give a dime to see Moses running up
Mount Sinai backward."—Indianapolis

Child Prodigy Made Good

Jascha Heifetz, popular genius of has become really great. He began to play the violin at the age of three regard of the musical public has steadily advanced after his memorable New York debut, in 1917.

Wife's Grave Kept Lighted

A Hartford, Conn., man has had two electric lights installed over his wife's grave. These lights are turned on twenty-four hours a day and, as a memorial to his wife, he hopes to make arrangements to have them kept lighted as long as the world lasts.

The Oldest Cent

A very old copper coin was dug up
by William N. Davis of Marblehead.
It was a copper cent bearing on one
side in a circle "Commonwealth of Massachusetts," with the date 1787
and an Indian holding a bow and a bundle of arrows. On the other side
is an eagle, with the value of the
coin, "One Cent."

infants, invalids, nursing mothers. Convenient, Light Nourishment, when faint or hungry. Taken hot, upon retiring, it induces sound, refreshing sleep. Instant-

Poodle Adopts Two Orphaned Kittens, Caring for Them as Though They Were Own Offspring

Monkey is the name of this dog with such a strong mothering instinct that she has adopted two little kittens. She is owned by Mrs. T. M. Martin of Atlanta, Ga.
Monkey looks after Tiny and Baby just as solicitously as though they were her own poodle puppies.

Smallest Known Bird

A humming bird found in Central America is said to be the smallest known bird. It is not much larger than a blue-bottle fly.

Chicken Looks Two Ways

The eyes of a chicken are not coordinated to the same extent that those of a human being are, and it can see in two directions equally well.

The Refreshing Lemon

This is the lemon season, the most ancient and popular cooling drink
being the "ice cold lemonade" shouted from one end of the land to the
other from the circus red lemonade
to the pale beverage of the church
sociable. No drink is more healthful.

The citric acid of the lemon gives
the right properties to aid digestion,
while the vitamins contained in its
acid juice furnish other essentials
for robust health. The lemon has now become a popularly accepted

concomitant of iced tea. The slice
of lemon gives the iced tea a fine
flavor and makes it much more palat-
able to those who are not tea drinkers except in the hot days of summer
when they take it iced.

Lemon ices to accompany roasts at
dinner, lemon sherbets for dessert,
lemon and ginger ale as a variant of lemonade, lemon juice in salad dressings, are only a few of the constant uses to which the lemon is put during the summer months. It pays to
buy lemons by the box for household
use. They can be stored in the ice
box, keeping only a sufficient store

out for day-by-day use. This is an economy worth considering and a convenience, often saving a trip to
the store.

Lemon juice for the removal of
other fruit stains from the hands or
from fabrics is constantly in demand.
It is a good plan to extract a quart
of lemon juice at a time, straining
and bottling it to have it convenient
for use in the kitchen. There isn't a day that the lemon isn't called for.
It is a simple task to measure out
the juice for a cold glass of lemonade
on a hot afternoon, much less trouble than stopping to squeeze the lemon. As the juice keeps well, it is a good plan to buy an extra supply

of the fruit for the purpose of making the juice for daily use.

The lemon crop has been very
plentiful and the quality of lemons
on the market this year is unusually
good.

Many "Phobias"

The word that signifies fear of lightning is "astrophobia," while some of the other "phobias" are agrophobia, fear of being in an open place or street; claustrophobia, fear of being shut in a room or house; musophobia, fear of defilement, pollution or contamination; pyrophobia, fear of fire;
anthrophobia, fear of society.

COURTNEY ESTATE INHERITANCE TAX

Fixed by Probate Court of Crow Wing County at $14,164.05

APPROVED BY ATTY. GENERAL

Of This Amount, 10 Per Cent Goes to County, Balance to the State

The state inheritance tax, in the Dr. Courtney estate, has been fixed by the probate court of Crow Wing county at $14,164.05, has been approved by the attorney general of the state, and has been paid by the administrator, the Minnesota Loan and Trust Company. Of this amount 10 per cent goes to Crow Wing county, and the balance to the state of Minnesota.

This is the largest estate, so far as valuation in the county is concerned, that has been probated locally for many years. The probate proceedings were commenced on June 30th, 1924, and are practically completed.

The gross valuation of the entire Courtney estate, upon which the tax was paid, amounted to $327,613.80. The net valuation of the estate, after certain allowable deductions were made, amounted to $315,423.24.

By the terms of Dr. Courtney's will, a legacy of $3,000 per year was bequeathed to his widow, so long as she remain unmarried, and two legacies of $500 each per year were bequeathed to the doctor's brother and sister as long as they may live.

The income from the remainder of the Courtney estate is given to the doctor's only child, Mrs. Hildegard Courtney Jordan.

The will further provided that after the death of the above-named legatees, the income from the estate should go to Mrs. Jordan's children, and that upon their attaining the age of 40 years, the property shall become theirs absolutely.

In case Mrs. Jordan should have no children, or that her children should not attain the age of 40 years, the will provides for legacies of $5,000 each to three nephews and that the remainder of the estate shall go to the University of Michigan.

The laws of Minnesota provide that in case property is willed so that its distribution depends upon the happening of contingencies, the probate court shall assess the tax at the highest possible rate under the terms of the will. It further provides that in case of a happening of one of the contingencies provided in the will permitting a lower tax, the state shall refund the over payment, if any.

In the Dr. Courtney estate the trust company asked the probate court to assume that Mrs. Jordan would have at least one child who would reach the age of 40 years which would have brought the inheritance tax down to only $8,607.49. However, as the law reads, this could not be done, but in case Mrs. Jordan should have children, they would be protected by the refundment of any surplus tax that may have been paid.

JUNE SALES RECORD

Ford Motor Co. Delivers 6,000 More Cars And Trucks to Retail Customers

A new June sales record was established by the Ford Motor Company during the month just passed, when approximately 6,000 more Ford cars and trucks were delivered to retail customers in the United States than during the same month a year ago, which held the previous high mark for June.

Reports indicate a continued large volume of business through the summer months with a higher buying level than is usual during this season of the year. The outlook is for another record breaking month for July. Urgent requests for additional shipments have made necessary increasing the company's July production schedule, which now calls for several thousand more cars and trucks than were produced in June.

Sales figures just given out by the company show that the total sales for June were 195,300 Ford cars and trucks. Of this number, 176,255 represent domestic sales, as compared with 170,547 cars and trucks sold in June a year ago.

Buying conditions also continued good in the high priced car market. Evidence of this appears in the sales of Lincoln cars during June, with deliveries to domestic customers totaling $92, an increase of 95 over June a year ago.

Lively's stock of Ford parts is complete in every detail. Open day and night.

MORE WOMEN THAN EVER BEFORE ARE HEADING TOURISTS

More women are heading touring parties than ever before according to H. C. Hotelling, secretary of the Ten Thousand Lakes association, who says that it is not at all uncommon to have several women tourists call at his office in a single day.

Several carloads of women bound on transcontinental tours have passed through the Twin Cities recently. Some of these have come from the extreme eastern part of the nation and are headed for the west coast. Most of those who have called at the office of the Ten Thousand Lakes association have reported no serious mishaps along the way, but were prepared to change tires or do anything else necessary for their welfare during the trip.

Some of the parties were bound for the west over the desert route, others were headed for the western national parks. Still others were bound for northwestern Canada. Practically all were equipped with camping outfits and took pride in the fact that they had been able to pitch their tents as efficiently as any party of men could have done.

Women, according to Mr. Hotelling, are showing an increased interest in outings every year. In Minnesota there are now some excellent anglers among the women. During recent years women have entered casting contests throughout the state and have made remarkable showings.

That there will be an increase in the number of women outings every year is indicated in the increasing popularity of the girls camps that are being established throughout the state where girls are taught the intricacies of camping life.

COUNTY BOARD

TO INSPECT ROADS

Semi-Annual Tour of County Highway Requires Practically 3 Days

CAREFUL INSPECTION GIVEN

Roads Out of Brainerd, Crosby, Iron-ton, Deerwood, Etc., Viewed by Commissioners

The board of county commissioners, which has been in session all this week, the first three days as a board of equalization, will complete its task of inspecting roads tomorrow.

The semi-annual tour of county highway requires practically three days, in which every road under the jurisdiction of the commissioners is carefully inspected, special attention being given to proposed changes and to new departures in road building that may have been made recently.

The inspection tour began Thursday, when the commissioners thoroughly covered the north-eastern quarter of the county, which includes roads out of Crosby, Iron-ton, Deerwood and other range towns, and those from Little Pine, Eagle Lake and Emily to the Aitkin county line.

On Friday the north-west quarter of the county is being visited. Here special attention is being given to the so-called "Inland Trail" the White Line No. 10, from Merrifield north to Brezzy Point and west to Pequot. The commissioners at their last meeting adopted a resolution to take this road over as a state road, which if the state highway department approves, will be made as fine a highway as the road from Brainerd to Merrifield and north. The state is interested in the Inland Trail, since it will offer an excellent detour from Brainerd to Pequot should Trunk Highway No. 19 be closed at any time for repairs or improvements.

Other roads visited on Friday include those running east out of Jenkins, Pine River and Swanburg.

On Saturday the commissioners will view the roads in the southern half of the county including the Dewing highway through the southern tier of townships from Ft. Ripley east to Mille Lacs, judicial roads along the Morrison county line, and highways in the Garrison and Bay lake districts.

Few Dead Birds Seen

Very few dead wild creatures of any kind are seen either in cities or in the country. As a rule they creep away in some out-of-the-way place to die. In the case of birds, it is probable that most of them when sick are captured by their enemies, such as cats and rats, before they die a natural death.

WOLF BOUNTIES IN THE COUNTY

Crow Wing County's Share Amounted to $405 Payment

39 COUNTIES PARTICIPATE

Beltrami County Received the Highest Apportionment, $2007

Crow Wing county's share of wolf bounties paid by State Auditor Ray P. Chase recently, amounted to $405, payments being made on the basis of $15 each for full grown wolves, and $6 for wolf cubs.

Mr. Chase mailed checks to 39 counties, totaling $18,837, which is reimbursement for wolf bounties paid by the counties to their citizens, during the months of April, May and June.

Beltrami county received the highest amount, $2,007, with Cass county a close second, $1,992, and Roseau county third, with $1,671. Brown county received the least, $15.

Although the more thinly settled counties received the largest amounts for wolf bounties, those that are well settled in the southern portion of the state did their share toward exterminating the wolf. Even Hennepin and Ramsey counties, in which are located the twin cities, are credited with having killed two grown wolves each.

Secret of Success

Jerome S. McWade, the Duluth millionaire, said at a banquet: "I see that Otto Kahn has been telling the Yale boys how he made his first success. It was by stamp-licking. Otto was the best little stamp-licker in the office, and on that account his boss promoted him."

"All success is as simple as that. Hard work, doing your level best—that's all there is to it. Maybe we rich men make a mistake when we tell how we succeeded. It's so simple—just a matter of work—maybe the world despises us when it learns our secret."

"A little stum boy once got a two weeks' holiday in the country. He came back brown and strong, but he was done with milk forever. No more milk for him. No sir."

"I'm done with it," he said. "I seen how they make it ye know. Why, the darn stuff's nothin' but chewed grass."

Beginning of Discord

"Oh, mother!" said a little girl on returning from a children's service, "such a kind gentleman got up in a high place and told us a story about a man called Adam and a woman called Eve, who lived in a beautiful garden and were so happy until the servant came."

LARGE JUDGMENTS ENTERED AGAINST BRAINERD PEOPLE

Judgments against a number of Brainerd and other Crow Wing county people were entered in the office of Clerk of Court Meyers this morning in favor of the county of Crow Wing. One judgment is for $20,036.63 and is entered against Henry E. Kundert, Alvin A. Arnold, Carl Zapffe and Oliver H. Scott. Another is for $20,110.15 and is entered against Robert E. Snell. The nature of the judgments is not known here, but it is believed to have something to do with the closing of one of Brainerd's banks some time ago.—Little Falls Daily Transcript.

COURTNEY ESTATE INHERITANCE TAX

Fixed by Probate Court of Crow Wing County at $14,164.05

APPROVED BY ATTY. GENERAL

Of This Amount, 10 Per Cent Goes to County, Balance to the State

The state inheritance tax, in the Dr. Walter Courtney estate, has been fixed by the probate court of Crow Wing county at $14,164.05, has been approved by the attorney general of the state, and has been paid by the administrator, the Minnesota Loan and Trust Company. Of this amount 10 per cent goes to Crow Wing county, and the balance to the state of Minnesota.

This is the largest estate, so far as valuation in the county is concerned, that has been probated locally for many years. The probate proceedings were commenced on June 30th, 1924, and are practically completed.

The gross valuation of the entire Courtney estate, upon which the tax was paid, amounted to $327,613.80. The net valuation of the estate, after certain allowable deductions were made, amounted to $315,423.24.

By the terms of Dr. Courtney's will, a legacy of $3,000 per year was bequeathed to his widow, so long as she remain unmarried, and two legacies of $500 each per year were bequeathed to the doctor's brother and sister as long as they may live.

The income from the remainder of the Courtney estate is given to the doctor's only child, Mrs. Hildegard Courtney Jordan.

The will further provided that after the death of the above-named legatee, the income from the estate should go to Mrs. Jordan's children, and that upon their attaining the age of 40 years, the property shall become theirs absolutely.

In case Mrs. Jordan should have no children, or that her children should not attain the age of 40 years, the will provides for legacies of $5,000 each to three nephews and that the remainder of the estate shall go to the University of Michigan.

The laws of Minnesota provide that in case property is willed so that its distribution depends upon the happening of contingencies, the probate court shall assess the tax at the highest possible rate under the terms of the will. It further provides that in case of a happening of one of the contingencies provided in the will permitting a lower tax, the state shall refund the over payment, if any.

In the Dr. Courtney estate the trust company asked the probate court to assume that Mrs. Jordan would have at least one child who would reach the age of 40 years which would have brought the inheritance tax down to only $8,607.49. However, as the law reads, this could not be done, but in case Mrs. Jordan should have children, they would be protected by the refundment of any surplus tax that may have been paid.

JUNE SALES RECORD

Ford Motor Co. Delivers 6,000 More Cars And Trucks to Retail Customers

A new June sales record was established by the Ford Motor Company during the month just passed, when approximately 6,000 more Ford cars and trucks were delivered to retail customers in the United States than during the same month a year ago, which held the previous high mark for June.

Reports indicate a continued large volume of business through the summer months with a higher buying level than is usual during this season of the year. The outlook is for another record breaking month for July. Urgent requests for additional shipments have made necessary increasing the company's July production schedule, which now calls for several thousand more cars and trucks than were produced in June.

Sales figures just given out by the company show that the total sales for June were 195,300 Ford cars and trucks. Of this number, 176,256 represent domestic sales, as compared with 170,547 cars and trucks sold in June a year ago.

Buying conditions also continue good in the high priced car market. Evidence of this appears in the sales of Lincoln cars during June, with deliveries to domestic customers totaling $92, an increase of 95 over June a year ago.

Lively's stock of Ford parts is complete in every detail. Open day and night.

MORE WOMEN THAN EVER BEFORE ARE HEADING TOURISTS

More women are heading touring parties than ever before according to H. C. Hotelling, secretary of the Ten Thousand Lakes association, who says that it is not at all uncommon to have several women tourists call at his office in a single day.

Several carloads of women bound on transcontinental tours have passed through the Twin Cities recently. Some of these have come from the extreme eastern part of the nation and are headed for the west coast. Most of those who have called at the office of the Ten Thousand Lakes association have reported no serious mishaps along the way, but were prepared to change tires or do anything else necessary for their welfare during the trip.

Some of the parties were bound for the west over the desert route, others were headed for the western national parks. Still others were bound for northwestern Canada. Practically all were equipped with camping outfits and took pride in the fact that they had been able to pitch their tents as efficiently as any party of men could have done.

Women, according to Mr. Hotelling, are showing an increased interest in outings every year. In Minnesota there are now some excellent anglers among the women. During recent years women have entered casting contests throughout the state and have made remarkable showings. That there will be an increase in the number of women outdoors every year is indicated in the increasing popularity of the girls camps that are being established throughout the state where girls are taught the intricacies of camping life.

COUNTY BOARD TO INSPECT ROADS

Semi-Annual Tour of County Highways Requires Practically 3 Days

CAREFUL INSPECTION GIVEN

Roads Out of Brainerd, Crosby, Iron-ton, Deerwood, Etc., View-ed by Commissioners

The board of county commissioners, which has been in session all this week, the first three days as a board of equalization, will complete its task of inspecting roads tomorrow.

The semi-annual tour of county highway requires practically three days, in which every road under the jurisdiction of the commissioners is carefully inspected, special attention being given to proposed changes and to new departures in road building that may have been made recently.

The inspection tour began Thursday, when the commissioners thoroughly covered the north-eastern quarter of the county, which includes roads out of Crosby, Iron-ton, Deerwood and other range towns, and those from Little Pine, Eagle Lake and Emily to the Aitkin county line.

On Friday the north-west quarter of the county is being visited. Here special attention is being given to the so-called "Inland Trail" the White Line No. 10, from Merrifield north to Brezzy Point and west to Pequot. The commissioners at their last meeting adopted a resolution to take this road over as a state road, which if the state highway department approves, will be made as fine a highway as the road from Brainerd to Merrifield and north. The state is interested in the Inland Trail, since it will offer an excellent detour from Brainerd to Pequot should Trunk Highway No. 19 be closed at any time for repairs or improvements.

Other roads visited on Friday include those running east out of Jenkins, Pine River and Swanburg. On Saturday the commissioners will view the roads in the southern half of the county including the Dewing highway through the southern tier of townships from Ft. Ripley east to Mille Lacs, judicial roads along the Morrison county line, and highways in the Garrison and Bay Lake districts.

The thorough inspection of county roads is important, since it gives the commissioners first hand information on improvements needed and appropriations necessary to maintain the present system or to enlarge it.

Few Dead Birds Seen

Very few dead wild creatures of any kind are seen either in cities or in the country. As a rule they creep away in some out-of-the-way place to die. In the case of birds, it is probable that most of them when sick are captured by their enemies, such as cats and rats, before they die a natural death.

WOLF BOUNTIES IN THE COUNTY

Crow Wing County's Share Amount-ed to $405 Pay-ment

39 COUNTIES PARTICIPATE

Beltrami County Received the High-est Apportionment, $2007

Crow Wing county's share of wolf bounties paid by State Auditor Ray P. Chase recently, amounted to $405, payments being made on the basis of $15 each for full grown wolves, and $6 for wolf cubs.

Mr. Chase mailed checks to 39 counties, totaling $18,837, which is reimbursement for wolf bounties paid by the counties to their citizens, during the months of April, May and June.

Beltrami county received the highest amount, $2,007, with Cass county a close second, $1,992, and Roseau county third, with $1,671. Brown county received the least, $15.

Although the more thinly settled counties received the largest amounts for wolf bounties, those that are well settled in the southern portion of the state did their share toward exterminating the wolf. Even Hennepin and Ramsey counties, in which are located the twin cities, are credited with having killed two grown wolves each.

Bible School

The daily vacation Bible school, which has been in session in the Peoples Congregational church for the past two weeks, closes today with a picnic this afternoon at Lum park and a public program at the church at 8 o'clock this evening, in which the pupils will demonstrate to parents and friends what has been accomplished. The school has been conducted by Rev. N. P. Olmsted, very ably assisted by Miss Ruth Templeton.

Secret of Success

Jerome S. McWade, the Duluth millionaire, said at a banquet: "I see that Otto Kahn has been telling the Yale boys how he made his first success. It was by stamp-collecting. Otto was the best little stamp-collector in the office, and on that account his boss promoted him."

"All success is as simple as that. Hard work, doing your level best—that's all there is to it. Maybe we rich men make a mistake when we tell how we succeeded. It's so simple—just a matter of work—maybe the world despises us when it learns our secret."

"A little slum boy once got a two weeks' holiday in the country. He came back brown and strong, but he was done with milk forever. No more milk for him. No, sir."

"I'm done with it," he said. "I seen how they make it ye know. Why, the darn stuff's nothin' but chewed grass."

Beginning of Discord

LARGE JUDGMENTS ENTERED AGAINST BRAINERD PEOPLE

Judgments against a number of Brainerd and other Crow Wing county people were entered in the office of Clerk of Court Meyers this morning in favor of the county of Crow Wing. One judgment is for $20,036.63 and is entered against Henry E. Kundert, Alvin A. Arnold, Carl Zapffe and Oliver H. Scott. Another is for $20,110.15 and is entered against Robert E. Snell. The nature of the judgments is not known here, but it is believed to have something to do with the closing of one of Brainerd's banks some time ago.—Little Falls Daily Transcript.

HUG TAKES BLAME FOR YANK FLOP

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, July 24.—Miller Huggins admits now that he was responsible chiefly for the collapse which caused a former championship team to descend almost to the cellar.

The little manager of the New York Yankees says he realizes now that he should have secured young blood several years ago to be ready to replace his veterans, but that he made the mistake in figuring that his old players would last longer than they did.

"Col. Ruppert (owner of the club) and I thought sure last winter that the Yankees would not only last one more season but that they would be strong enough to win the pennant," Huggins said.

He realizes, as all baseball men do, the difficulty of rebuilding a team in a short time. John McGraw has been so successful with the New York Giants because he is always rebuilding and looking to the future. When a veteran slows up, he merely has to reach to the corner of the bench and pluck a youngster to send in.

You can't say that it has been the result of pure luck in McGraw's case. His success has been due to good organization and a policy that a good young ball player can always be used even if he is not needed.

The Yankees have plenty of money and a liberal spending owner, but more than cash is needed in these days to get young players who are ready for big time duty.

"How do they get that way?" is an inelegant but pertinent way to put a protest against the high-hatted airs that are assumed by many successful athletes.

Harry Wills, not so many years ago was wrestling freight on the docks for $3 a day. The other day he sailed for Europe on one of the best trans-Atlantic liners to have a good time on a drawing account of at least $250,000.

How did he get it? From the generous support of the press, support that perhaps was justified only by the desire of editors to give him a square deal.

Wills never was a great fighter. He isn't a great fighter and at his age it is not likely that he ever will be a great fighter. Yet for years—ever since Jack Dempsey won the heavyweight championship in 1919—Wills has been supported by countless columns of space in the newspapers which defended his right to the claim as the first challenger.

The fear that racial troubles might arise if there were any grounds for the belief that Wills was not getting a square deal caused many writers to go to the opposite extreme against their better judgment and it made Wills a wealthy man.

When he was getting ready to sail, a newspaperman asked Wills for an interview. It wouldn't have taken ten minutes of his time, but Wills said he was too busy to be bothered.

Another similar case with Bill Tilden, the national tennis champion, wearing the high hat, happened recently.

Tilden was playing in a minor tournament in the metropolitan district and he was asked to pose for a photograph.

He stamped off the courts in a rage and said he couldn't be bothered.

If Tilden did not pose as a newspaperman his outburst might have been pardoned on the grounds that it was the result of artistic temperament.

DEMPSEY TO MIX WITH HARRY GREB

CHAMPION TO DEFEND HEAVY-WEIGHT TITLE IN MICHIGAN CITY

Chicago, July 24.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight titleholder, approved of a Michigan City bout with Harry Greb, king of middleweights, Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter, announced here today.

Fitzsimmons said he talked with Dempsey over long-distance telephone from Salt Lake City and the heavyweight champion put his stamp of approval on the proposed bout.

Following the conversation Fitzsimmons wired James Mason, Greb's manager, to meet him in conference some time next week. Fitzsimmons wants to stage the bout either Sept. 19 or 26 in his Michigan City arena. The bout would go 10 rounds with the heavyweight championship at stake, he said.

CHIEF BENDER WORKS IN EXHIBITION GAME

Battle Creek, Mich., July 25.—"Chief" Bender, restored to the active list by the Chicago White Sox, pitched three innings of an exhibition game against the Battle Creek All-Stars, the American leaguers winning, 8 to 1. The fans requested Manager Collins to send the veteran "Red" Faber to the hill, and Faber worked the first inning. Little Mike Cvetogros, left-hander, relieved Faber, and Bender pitched the last three frames. The lone run of the Battle Creek team was made by Smith who uncocked a four bagger off Cvetogros.

37—The Pivot.

There should be another name for the pivot. At any rate, there should be a better understanding of just what the pivot is. Here's a method by which you can get a thorough understanding of the whole movement.

No matter where you are when you read this description, try it at once. Stand a few inches from a wall or open doorway and lean forward until the top of the forehead touches the wall or door-jamb. You are fairly balanced on both feet. Keep your forehead pressed against the support and move the hips to the right until you feel distinctly that the weight is on the right leg. As a matter of fact, you feel that you are sitting up on top of the right leg. There is not a particle of rotary motion. If you are leaning against a wall, the motion of the hips is exactly parallel with the wall. If there has been any rotary or twisting motion of the hips, try it again until you are certain the motion is wholly sidewise.

When you are certain you have gone through this movement properly move the hips as far to the left as they will go, being sure that the forehead stays where it was. At the end of the movement to the left, you will have the same feeling of sitting on top of your left leg as you had at the end of the movement to the right. Now just go over the whole movement again with the arms hanging loosely and note that about the only body movement is a dip of the left shoulder when the hips go to the right and a corresponding dip of the right shoulder when the hips go to the left.

This is where what should be called the pivot begins. Go through the same motion, making the regular backward swing to the top with the arms and continuing through to the finish, with the right shoulder as far down and through as you can get it without moving your head. All that movement above the hips is a real pivot. Finally, take your regular stance, keeping your forehead against the support. Probably your left foot is toed out. Toe straight for the line with the left foot. Then go through the whole movement, slowly toward the right and as fast as you can against the stiffened left leg, letting your head turn around, not lift, at the finish. All that is the perfect pivot.

HUG TAKES BLAME FOR YANK FLOP

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, July 24.—Miller Huggins admits now that he was responsible chiefly for the collapse which caused a former championship team to descend almost to the cellar.

The little manager of the New York Yankees says he realizes now that he should have secured young blood several years ago to be ready to replace his veterans, but that he made the mistake in figuring that his old players would last longer than they did.

"Col. Ruppert (owner of the club) and I thought sure last winter that the Yankees would not only last one more season but that they would be strong enough to win the pennant," Huggins said.

He realizes, as all baseball men do, the difficulty of rebuilding a team in a short time. John McGraw has been so successful with the New York Giants because he is always rebuilding and looking to the future. When a veteran slows up, he merely has to reach to the corner of the bench and pluck a youngster to send in.

You can't say that it has been the result of pure luck in McGraw's case. His success has been due to good organization and a policy that a good young ball player can always be used even if he is not needed.

The Yankees have plenty of money and a liberal spending owner, but more than cash is needed in these days to get young players who are ready for big time duty.

"How do they get that way?" is an inelegant but pertinent way to put a protest against the high-hatted airs that are assumed by many successful athletes.

Harry Wills, not so many years ago was wrestling freight on the docks for $3 a day. The other day he sailed for Europe on one of the best trans-Atlantic liners to have a good time on a drawing account of at least $250,000. How did he get it?

From the generous support of the press, support that perhaps was justified only by the desire of editors to give him a square deal.

Wills never was a great fighter. He isn't a great fighter and at his age it is not likely that he ever will be a great fighter. Yet for years—ever since Jack Dempsey won the heavyweight championship in 1919—Wills has been supported by countless columns of space in the newspapers which defended his right to the claim as the first challenger.

The fear that racial troubles might arise if there were any grounds for the belief that Wills was not getting a square deal caused many writers to go to the opposite extreme against their better judgment and it made Wills a wealthy man.

When he was getting ready to sail, a newspaperman asked Wills for an interview. It wouldn't have taken ten minutes of his time, but Wills said he was too busy to be bothered.

Another similar case with Bill Tilden, the national tennis champion, wearing the high hat, happened recently.

Tilden was playing in a minor tournament in the metropolitan district and he was asked to pose for a photograph.

He stamped off the courts in a rage and said he couldn't be bothered.

If Tilden did not pose as a newspaperman his outburst might have been pardoned on the grounds that it was the result of artistic temperament.

DEMPSEY TO MIX WITH HARRY GREB

CHAMPION TO DEFEND HEAVY- WEIGHT TITLE IN MICHIGAN CITY

Chicago, July 24.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight titleholder, approved of a Michigan City bout with Harry Greb, king of middleweights, Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter, announced here today.

Fitzsimmons said he talked with Dempsey over long-distance telephone from Salt Lake City and the heavyweight champion put his stamp of approval on the proposed bout.

Following the conversation Fitzsimmons wired James Mason, Greb's manager, to meet him in conference some time next week. Fitzsimmons wants to stage the bout either Sept. 19 or 26 in his Michigan City arena. The bout would go 10 rounds with the heavyweight championship at stake, he said.

CHIEF BENDER WORKS IN EXHIBITION GAME

Battle Creek, Mich., July 25.—"Chief" Bender, restored to the active list by the Chicago White Sox, pitched three innings of an exhibition game against the Battle Creek All-Stars, the American leaguers winning, 8 to 1. The fans requested Manager Collins to send the veteran "Red" Faber to the hill, and Faber worked the first inning. Little Mike Cvangros, left-hander, relieved Faber, and Bender pitched the last three frames. The lone run of the Battle Creek team was made by Smith who uncorked a four bagger off Cvangros.

Glenn Myatt Is Beaten and Forced From Game

37—The Pivot.

There should be another name for the pivot. At any rate, there should be a better understanding of just what the pivot is. Here's a method by which you can get a thorough understanding of the whole movement.

No matter where you are when you read this description, try it at once. Stand a few inches from a wall or open doorway and lean forward until the top of the forehead touches the wall or door-jamb. You are fairly balanced on both feet. Keep your forehead pressed against the support and move the hips to the right until you feel distinctly that the weight is on the right leg. As a matter of fact, you feel that you are sitting up on top of the right leg. There is not a particle of rotary motion. If you are leaning against a wall, the motion of the hips is exactly parallel with the wall. If there has been any rotary or twisting motion of the hips, try it again until you are certain the motion is wholly sidewise.

When you are certain you have gone through this movement properly move the hips as far to the left as they will go, being sure that the forehead stays where it was. At the end of the movement to the left, you will have the same feeling of sitting on top of your left leg as you had at the end of the movement to the right. Now just go over the whole movement again with the arms hanging loosely and note that about the only body movement is a dip of the left shoulder when the hips go to the right and a corresponding dip of the right shoulder when the hips go to the left.

This is where what should be called the pivot begins. Go through the same motion, making the regular backward swing to the top with the arms and continuing through to the finish, with the right shoulder as far down and through as you can get it without moving your head. All that movement above the hips is a real pivot. Finally, take your regular stance, keeping your forehead against the support. Probably your left foot is toed out. Toe straight for the line with the left foot. Then go through the whole movement, slowly toward the right and as fast as you can against the stiffened left leg, letting your head turn around, not lift, at the finish. All that is the perfect pivot.
